

Fire Prevention During Hot Work

Insurance companies have introduced requirements for certification for all persons carrying out hot work on a provisional workplace. If the workplace is not fixed and does not have special facilities for hot work, then it is considered a provisional workplace. If hot work is not executed according to the prevailing safety regulations and an injury or damage occurs you will get reduction in an insurance settlement.

CONTENT

- What is hot work
- Fire theory
- Extinguishing fire
- Laws and regulations
- Responsibilities
- Dangers when performing hot work
- Gasses and equipment
- Precautions and first aid
- What to remember
- Correct conduct when there is a fire

CONDITIONS

A documented practical fire extinguishing drill must be submitted within three months after passing the course.

COURSE DETAILS

- Type: e-learning
- Target audience: Everyone performing hot work at a provisional workplace
- Language: English, Polish and Norwegian
- Duration: 3-5 hours
- Certificate: Issued by Norsk Brannvernforening. The certificate is valid for 5 years in Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland.

NB! Everyone who takes the course before 30 June 2023, has a valid certificate in Sweden until the certificate expires. After 30 June, everyone who will work with hot works in Sweden must obtain a Swedish certificate from a Swedish supplier through classroom instruction.

CONTACT

muniolms.com
contact@muniolms.com

+ 47 33 35 14 20